Kentucky TASH is seeking the input of parents/guardians/family members of children of color (any child that is non-white/non-anglo) who are receiving special education

The Kentucky Chapter of TASH, a national advocacy organization which advocates for the inclusion of people with the most severe disabilities, is seeking the input of parents/guardians/family members of children of color about needs/issues you see related to special education and/or disability services in our state.

The input we receive will be shared with the Kentucky Department of Education/Division of Exceptional Children Services (KDE/DECS) State Advisory Panel, other state agency service providers, and national TASH for the purpose of improving services and supports for children and adults of color with disabilities and their families.

Come tell us what you think!

Please complete the attached information so that we will know how many people to plan for and we hope to see you there!
